Hello,

I have a question, I didn't read the entire proposal because what frustrates me as a consumer is there's always a rate increase, you see everyone is dealing with increases because of inflation too. Eventually We The People here will just pay the government and big companies to take care of us with the little we have left. I'd love to see a full breakdown of how money is spent right now. We always get to see a portion break down but nothing more and every so many years there's the push for "we need more money". My question is in there somewhere. Explain the true benefits WE the consumer will see from the rate increase. Upgrading and maintaining equipment should be budgeted ahead of time. So why another rate increase?
