5. Public Comment

Jeff McKeen, General Manager of the Southeastern Oakland County Water Authority (SOCWA), came before the Board to request that the GLWA Board approve the charges for the new fiscal year no later than March 31 of each year, which will allow GLWA customers to conduct their rate setting process using actual GLWA charge information.

Sam Molnar, a resident of Ferndale and member of Detroit Youth for Justice, came before the Board to request, as the Board comes to these meetings, that income-based water affordability is placed at the top of the agenda, as income-based water affordability is a way to keep people with water.

Cindy Darrah, Great Lakes Water Protection Committee, addressed the Board regarding drainage charges and combined sewer overflows.

Peter Rhoades, resident of Detroit, came before the Board regarding the Nestle Company, which he says has been given MDEQ approval to pump out 400 gallons per minute out of the aquifer, and stated that if there were a tax placed on bottled water companies, it would raise a lot of money for things that cannot otherwise be done.

Saulius Simoliunas addressed the Board regarding citizen scientists (See Attachment to Resolution 2018-827).

Willi Gutmann, resident of Warren, addressed the Board regarding the 12 Towns Drain, timely notification of CSO events and inquired as to what is being done to address the flooding issues Warren residents are faced with.

10. Remarks

A. Chairperson's Remarks

Chairman Hendrix, in response to public comments by Jeff McKeen, requested that staff, at the next meeting, apprise the Board of the hurdles to overcome approval of charges by March 31, and also inquired about public comments made by Sam Molnar relating to water affordability.

B. Board Members' Remarks

Vice Chairman Baker informed the public that this Board (GLWA Board) does not bill residents and that GLWA is a wholesale provider to communities, and the communities bill and collect from their residents.

Vice Chairman Baker also responded to public comments regarding the Twelve Towns Drain overflow and stated that Candice Miller (Macomb County Public Works Commissioner) is very concerned about water quality and is committed to fixing up the two retention basins (Chapaton and Martin) that we (Macomb County) control.
