Re: Procurement Month Recognition

Background & Analysis: March is Procurement Month. Established by the National Institute of Governmental Purchasing (NIGP) and celebrated by public purchasing departments across the country, Procurement Month is dedicated to honoring the unique role of public procurement professionals and expanding awareness of the vital work that they perform every day for their organizations and for the public. Here at GLWA, Procurement Month offers us the opportunity to acknowledge our own outstanding Procurement Team who procure the goods and services that support GLWA's mission of providing water of unquestionable quality to the Michigan communities that we serve.
